

Trail Funding Program – Trail Destination Development Stream

Background

The Trail Destination Development Funding Stream provides one-time grants to support the development of diverse and sustainable trail tourism destinations through investments in tourism infrastructure, experience and product development, visitor-use management, and capacity-building initiatives along the Trans Canada Trail.

Please refer to Trail Funding Program 2022-2023 - Program Framework for description and details of Eligible Expenses, Project Administration, Promotion and Recognition for Trans Canada Trail funding recipients.

Eligibility

All applicants must:

- Complete the assessment of the trail\(s\) where the destination is being developed with the National Guidelines for Classifying Multi-Use Trails in Canada tool provided by Trans Canada Trail.
 - The result of the evaluation of tourism readiness of the trail where the destination is being developed should be at least “visitor ready”.
- Meet the general eligibility requirements outlined in Section 2 of the document: Trail Funding Program, 2022-2023 Program Framework.
- Applications submitted must agree to meeting all applicable codes, bylaws and regulations pertinent to the project and region.
- Provide valid proof of liability insurance, as it pertains to the section of the Trail where the project is taking place.
- Be either a Trail operator or a partnership, led by at least one Trail operator, with organizations, stakeholders, right holders as part of the trail tourism ecosystem (ref. National Guidelines for Classifying Multi-Use Trails in Canada, section 4, figure 6).
- If no official partnership is in place with the trail tourism ecosystem, please provide:
 - A Letter of Support from key stakeholder(s) in the hosting communities or region, for example, the town or city officials, the local Destination Marketing Organization (DMO), local Chamber of Commerce or Business investment association.

- A Letter of Support from key stakeholder(s) in the hosting communities or region, for example, the town or city officials, the local Destination Marketing Organization (DMO), local Chamber of Commerce or Business investment association.
- Identification of how support from Trans Canada Trail will allow the applicant to connect, coordinate, and collaborate with the trail tourism ecosystem.
- Evidence of the optimization of benefits brought to the hosting communities.
- Any project submitted needs to be supported by the hosting communities or Destination Management Organizations (DMOs). Trans Canada Trail strongly encourages applicants to connect, coordinate and collaborate with the entire trail tourism ecosystem of the trail destination under development.
 - If no relationship exists, the project must include a strategy for the establishment of these relationships. Trans Canada Trail can help the applicant with the implementation of the strategy, and provide the support of our network.
 - The project submitted should optimize the benefits of trail tourism brought to the host communities. These benefits have positive effects on the local economy, elevate resident awareness and community pride, preserve and share the local cultural heritage, attract and retain a diverse population in the community, increase the quality of life, and have positive impacts on the environment.
